

Con bar stool

Con bar stool

Con bar stool is designed by Lars Tornøe for Fora Form

Con is a bar stool with several uses; from project meeting rooms to canteens.

Designer Lars Tornøe started out with shell structures to design a "petite contribution" to Fora Form's collection.

The result has been a chair and bar stool made up of two overlapping shells joined by a distinct button, a theme influenced by Japanese armor.

Con in counter height works great to improve interaction through quick chats and a coffee.

★ Wide collection of materials and textures in the backrest without compromising comfort and functionality.

★ Distinct buttons that join seat and backrest.

Technical information:

- Con is fully upholstered with a closed back, and is recommended in elastic textile.
- Back can be upholstered or laminated wood in natural oak, dark stained oak, white washed oak or black stained oak.
- Con is also available in leather.
- Knobs are the same as bases.
- Stackable.
- Chair hanger in anthracite gray (RAL7012).
- Base in chrome, black, white or metallic epoxy. Other NCS / RAL colored base on request
- Footrest always in chrome.
- Plastic gliders.
